

The Office of the Provost Presents:

Campus and Community Racial Climate: Its Influence on Creating Inclusive Faculty Environments

Dr. Richard Reddick, University of Texas at Austin
Assistant Vice President of Research and Policy,
Office of the Vice President for Diversity and Community Engagement

Thursday, September 21 - 7:00 PM
Mannheimer Room, REU 102

Scholars have investigated how campus climate contributes to diverse and inclusive university communities. There has been less discussion how local and national climate influences underrepresented faculty and students' perception of a campus. Dr. Richard Reddick explores these questions, proposing that these arenas are interweaved, impacting how scholars perceive how welcoming - or exclusionary - universities are. In this discussion, we will posit approaches that "move the needle" regarding campus/community climate.

For more information contact the History Department at history@unca.edu or 828-251-6415

This event is free and open to the public

UNIVERSITY of NORTH CAROLINA
ASHEVILLE

